Ike Goes to New York City To Help in Nixon Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that Vice President Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, offer the nation "the finest type of leadership that is available to the nation."

Eisenhower joined campaign forces with Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, at a wind-blown rally at the big Roosevelt Field Shopping Center in suburban Long Island.

The President and the man who hopes to become his successor met at the field after helicopter flights.

Eisenhower flew there from Idlewild Airport and Nixon from Brooklyn, where he spoke at a breakfast rally.

Opening a side by side campaign which will take the President and vice president to a series of New York City rallies and a parade to Herald Square, Eisenhower gave Nixon and Lodge a ringing endorsement in their battle against the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

On seven points, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge stand out above their Democratic opponents.

The President said he compares the two political teams on these points:

1. Character. 2. Moral courage. 3. Capacity. 4. Readiness to undertake disagreeable tasks. 5. Experience. 6. Ability to make decisions and 7. Devotion and dedication to the United States.

Dead Pilot's Rating Under Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pilot of a plane which crashed near Toledo, Ohio, with 22 deaths last weekend was using a pilot rating that had been ordered revoked but was still valid pending appeal, officials reported.

The Federal Aviation Agency announced Tuesday it had issued an order last July 15 revoking the airline pilot rating of Donald L. J. Chesser, the pilot who was killed with 21 others in the Arctic-Pacific Airlines plane mishap.

Chesser appealed the FAA order and it was stayed pending a decision by the Civil Aeronautics Board, which held a hearing last Aug. 23. James Springer, president of the airline, said the fatal flight was the first assigned to Chesser since the hearing.

Husband, Wife Split By Polling Place Line

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Snow will vote for the same presidential candidate next Tuesday, but they'll have to go to separate polling places.

The line that divides the 1st and 2nd wards runs through their home — and between their bedrooms.

Their favorite candidate is a secret.

Papers Bare Summary of U.S. Prestige

America Slipping Compared to Soviet, Secret Data Say

NEW YORK (AP)—Two news papers today quoted from a secret government summary which is said to report that United States prestige in the world has been slipping in comparison with that of the Soviet Union.

Both papers identified the document as the one, dated Aug. 29, which first was disclosed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The New York Times said the survey of world opinion showed "a decline in United States standing relative to the Soviet Union" and found the decline in prestige was "a continuing and accelerating trend."

The Times said it has obtained "pertinent parts of the report, which is labeled 'secret'."

The Washington Post said the summary "supports other reports that U.S. prestige has been going down while the Soviet Union's has been going up."

The Post said it obtained a copy of the summary, which Fulbright and Sen. John F. Kennedy have been seeking for weeks.

The summary, said to have been prepared by the U.S. Information Agency, has become an issue in the presidential campaign.

Kennedy contends U.S. prestige has been slipping. Vice President Richard M. Nixon contends American prestige abroad has never been higher.

The Times has endorsed Kennedy for president. The Post has announced that following its policy in five of the last six elections it will not make an endorsement.

The Times noted that the report "is one of a series made periodically as a possible guide in shaping Washington policy." Newspapers have quoted from previous reports on declining U.S. prestige.

The Times said there was only one part of the Aug. 29 report "from which a favorable conclusion could be drawn."

This was the results of a poll of various groups in 23 lands on which they thought would be the stronger country 25 years from now—the United States or the Soviet Union.

"In 13 of the countries," the Times said, "the report favored the United States. Eight national groups thought the Soviet Union would be in the lead. In two, the division was even. The groups polled varied in number from 200 to 1,612."

"It was perhaps significant that the later the poll was taken the less favorable was the result to the United States. All those taken in 1960 put Moscow in the lead."

One of 5 Lacks Minimum Income

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A federal official says one out of five individuals in America does not have enough income to buy a minimum of food, clothing and shelter.

W. L. Mitchell, commissioner of the Social Security Administration in Washington, told the Ohio Welfare Conference Tuesday that larger social welfare payments will never cure the economic ills of the people.

"Our whole economy must be brought up—better health, better education and more and better ways of making a living must come before we can improve our depressed areas," Mitchell said.

Johnson said the American people "are not going to let him (Nixon) ride piggy-back into the White House."

British Statement on Polaris Subs Comes as 'Surprise' to U.S. Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed surprise today at Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's statement that he expects Britain to be consulted before any Polaris missiles are fired from submarines serviced at a Scottish base.

Macmillan gave that opinion Tuesday as he formally announced to the House of Commons a U.S.-British agreement to permit the United States to keep a mobile submarine tender and a floating dock in the Clyde River estuary.

Labor members in Commons immediately attacked the plan, saying the people of Scotland would resent exposure to destruction.

"Wherever these submarines may be," Macmillan said, "I am perfectly satisfied no decision to use these missiles will ever be taken without the fullest possible previous consultation."

No such commitment was made when the agreement to establish the station was negotiated, State Department officials said. They said they could not confirm that the United States would fire the Polaris from the submarines only after consultation with Britain.

The agreement, they explained, foresaw prior consultations in periods of emergency concerning the use of the tender and other facilities of the station itself. But they said this does not affect the use of the submarines and their missiles "wherever these submarines may be," as Macmillan phrased it.

Meanwhile, the British government launched a public relations campaign today in an effort to avert an outcry against the basing of U.S. nuclear missile submarines in Scotland.

As the first voices of protest were raised, the government invited leading officials of 12 towns and counties in the Clyde area to a meeting at Greenock Thursday to discuss the base agreement. The invitations were sent out by John McLay, secretary of state for Scotland.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons Tuesday that Holy Loch, the Clyde yachting center 30 miles from Glasgow, would become a Polaris submarine base next February.

A submarine tender, and eventually a floating dock, along with 1,500 U.S. navy personnel will be stationed there to service submarines that can fire the 1,200-to-1,500-mile range Polaris missile from under water.

Macmillan recognized the risk of objections.

"But on reflection," he said, "I hope the House will feel that this new arrangement does not add to the risks to which we are all inevitably exposed in this nuclear age."

Moscow radio warned that the Polaris base would be the target for "an inevitable retaliatory blow" if used for aggression.

Labor members of Commons at once attacked the arrangement, saying the people of Scotland would resent exposure to destruction.

The Independent London Times said, however, that the submarine deterrent is "a much less hair-trigger business than the land-based rocket and would help to remove some American anxieties about the balance of power."

Britain already is host to U.S. rocket bases.

Guantanamo Pact Can Be Ended, Claim

Island President Says Yank OK Not Needed; Ike Sounds Warning

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, in a sharp reply to President Eisenhower, implied Tuesday night that the U.S. lease on the naval base at Guantanamo can be abrogated by the Cuban people without U.S. consent.

President Eisenhower, in a statement Tuesday, said the United States would take "whatever steps may be appropriate" to defend the base. He said the U.S. lease could be terminated or changed only by mutual agreement of the United States and Cuba.

Dorticos, in a speech to presidential palace employees, said Eisenhower's statement was designed "to justify armed aggression against our country" and supported the claims of Cuba's revolutionary regime that Washington is planning a faked incident at Guantanamo as a pretext for military action.

The Cuban president said Eisenhower's statement made it appear that "to make a decision respecting the territory of Cuba, an agreement with a foreign power is necessary."

"Have these gentlemen forgotten that all that is needed is the agreement of the Cuban people?" he asked.

In his formal statement, Eisenhower said: "While the position of the government of the United States with respect to the naval base at Guantanamo has, I believe, been made very clear, I would like to reiterate it briefly."

"Our rights in Guantanamo are based on internal agreements with Cuba, and include the exercise by the United States of complete jurisdiction and control over the area. These agreements with Cuba can be modified or abrogated only by agreement between the two parties, that is, the United States and Cuba. Our government has no intention of agreeing to the modification or abrogation of these agreements and will take whatever steps may be appropriate to defend the base."

"The people of the United States, and all of the peoples of the world, can be assured that the United States' presence in Guantanamo and use of the base pose no threat whatever to the sovereignty of Cuba, to the peace and security of its people or to the independence of any of the American countries. Because of its importance to the defense of the entire hemisphere, particularly in the light of the intimate relations which now exist between the present government of Cuba and the Sino-Soviet bloc, it is essential that our position in Guantanamo be clearly understood."

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, and other U.S. leaders earlier had made it clear that Prime Minister Fidel Castro would be in for trouble if he tried to take Guantanamo.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U.N. General Assembly in New York Tuesday that Cuban and Communist bloc charges of U.S. aggression against Cuba were "monstrous distortions and downright falsehoods." But he said the United States would welcome debate on the allegations.

Cubans continued to be fed a diet of rumors of invasion threats and stories of defense preparations.

Press reports from Oriente province said Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces were reinforcing shore defenses with artillery. Guantanamo is in Oriente.

Castro has called for volunteers among the workers' militia to learn to handle antitank and anti-aircraft weapons. Czech technicians are reported in Cuba to help train the volunteers in use of the Czech-made guns.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean's 10th Naval District, told visiting newsmen, "the situation is tense because we are in a position of waiting for someone else to do something."

Smith disclosed that mine fields were planted along the boundary fence of the 45-square-mile Guantanamo reservation several weeks ago.

"The mine fields are labeled plainly," he said. "Dr. Castro has stepped up his tempo and we have taken steps accordingly. We have made our defense a little bit tighter."

Delinquency Problem Eyed

'Moral Bankruptcy' Feared To Be Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unless the increasing problem of juvenile delinquency is brought under control Americans will be faced with moral bankruptcy, Maury C. Koblenz, chief of the Ohio Division of Correction, said today.

According to Koblenz, America's crime bill is $20 billion a year—$1 billion of it paid by Ohio.

Koblenz made his statements at the Ohio Welfare Conference as moderator of a panel on juvenile delinquency.

A sociological change caused by the depression, World War II, the cold war and other international problems have increased the juvenile delinquency problem, he said. As an example, he said parents now think nothing of leaving their children at home while they both work.

Calling for a carefully defined community effort to curb delinquency, Koblenz blamed American parents for most of the problem.

"You cannot put your children in school and expect their teachers to do the disciplinary work. Training begins in the home, and it should stay there longer," he said.

According to Koblenz, these sociological changes have caused a deterioration in the American sense of right and wrong. The home is too irresponsible, he said, and it is forcing the police and correctional institutions to do the job that should have been done in the home.

"When the delinquent reaches the policeman, it is almost too late for correction," he declared.

Koblenz urged the public to join forces with the police and correctional institutions and work together to curb the juvenile delinquency problems.

Johnson Claims Nixon 'Rides Piggy-Back'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic vice-presidential hopeful, said today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon "finds himself with his planks down and his issues nonexistent."

The Texas senator said the Republican candidate's "search for an issue" was "one of the more amusing aspects" of the closing days of the campaign.

Johnson said the American people "are not going to let him (Nixon) ride piggy-back into the White House."

Teacher Salary Hike To Get Priority, Kennedy Promises

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today pledged that next year a Democratic Congress and president "will enact a bill to raise teacher salaries."

The presidential candidate also said: "One of the first items on the Democratic agenda in 1961 is the passage of an adequate bill for school construction."

He outlined these promises and others in the education field in a talk prepared for a "key to victory" breakfast, before heading south to San Diego and then north to San Jose and San Francisco.

Kennedy's campaign explodes into a frenzied climax this week. After his San Francisco appearance, he will fly to Phoenix, Ariz. Between now and election night, he'll touch 16 states. A stop at Detroit, Mich., on Friday had to be dropped because it just couldn't be fitted into the tight schedule.

A new and mocking note toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon again entered Kennedy's tone Tuesday, a kaleidoscopic day that brought him here from the East Coast for a mammoth downtown motorcade at noon.

As he did the day before, Kennedy taunted Nixon for bringing President Eisenhower into the campaign in the closing days before the election next Tuesday.

At a rally at the Douglas Aircraft plant in Long Beach, Kennedy said, "Yesterday I understand Mr. Nixon spent two hours and a half in the White House asking the President to go with him to Pittsburgh and Cleveland."

"Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate. Mr. Nixon is. And if he can't stand up to the American people, if he won't come and meet me in a fifth debate, how is he going to stand up to Mr. Khrushchev?"

Kennedy again sought to point up the divergence of views among some Republican leaders by saying: "Mr. Nixon takes a ride through New York City tomorrow. He has with him Gov. Rockefeller, Henry Cabot Lodge, President Eisenhower. Where is Barry Gold-

Fleet-Footed Cleric Saves Youngster in Runaway Auto

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A Batavia mother may not know yet that an alert and fleet-footed minister saved her car and young daughter from harm Tuesday.

Bob Crowe, a loan company manager, said he spotted the brief drama Tuesday after the woman stopped her car in front of a bakery and left the motor running. The girl was inside.

He described it this way: The youngster apparently pulled the automatic shift to drive and the car started off.

It was too far and moving too fast for Crowe to catch it. But the minister, the Rev. Desmond Cole of Batavia, stopped his car in the middle of the street and ran hard after the driverless car.

He caught the car before it hit anything, drove it back to the bakery and parked it. He set the brake and turned off the motor. Then he walked back to his own car and drove on.

Ohio Assured Of Secret Poll

No One Can Know How You Vote, Official Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's secretary of state reminded voters today that all ballots cast on Nov. 8 "will be absolutely secret."

Ted W. Brown, the state's chief election official, said each election stirs up some doubts among some voters as to the secrecy of their ballots.

"Once the voter pulls the curtain behind him in the booth it is a matter strictly between himself and his conscience as to where he places his markings on the paper ballot or how he pulls the levers on the voting machine," Brown said. "There is absolutely no way anyone else can find out what the voter did behind this 'freedom curtain' unless the voter himself tells."

The secretary added that while ballot stubs are numbered and such numbers are recorded in the poll list, the ballot itself is not numbered and that the stub, bearing the number, is torn off and deposited in a separate box.

"There is no possible way of comparing numbers in order to determine how a particular vote was cast," he emphasized. "Stiff legal penalties await anyone even attempting to do so, or permitting it to be done."

Brown has issued a proclamation declaring a three-day period, Nov. 6-8, including election day, as "American Heritage Days," for conscientious meditation; for acquainting ourselves with candidates and issues, and finally, for the exercise of the precious privilege of choice.

The wires were signed by the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, who said his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, "is boasting in the cities that his farm program will not raise farm prices."

But, Kennedy wired, "Nixon-Benson (secretary of agriculture) farm experts themselves have estimated extreme cuts in farm prices under four years of the Nixon plan to set supports 10 to 25 percent below average market prices."

Girls Demand 'Beer Break'

LONDON (AP) — The daily strike for the mid-morning beer break is gaining recruits and drinking time.

The strike started Monday when 26 women at a factory that makes beer shampoo staged a one-hour walkout. Tuesday they were joined by eight girls of the office force.

Carrying signs declaring, "We want our beer break," they marched to the Lord Palmerston public house an hour before lunchtime and stayed two hours, drinking and singing.

Eric Lincoln, the firm's manager, had discovered that the women at their tea break were helping themselves to beer used in the shampoo.

Ohio Farm Leaders Get Kennedy Prod

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio farm leaders were urged today to devote as much of the next week as possible to talks favoring Democratic farm policies at rallies and other agricultural meetings.

Democratic Party headquarters here said telegrams were sent to Ohio's director of agriculture, Robert H. Terhune of Washington Court House; Dwight Wise of Fremont, president of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association, and Robert Ward of Urbana, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture.

The wires were signed by the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, who said his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, "is boasting in the cities that his farm program will not raise farm prices."

But, Kennedy wired, "Nixon-Benson (secretary of agriculture) farm experts themselves have estimated extreme cuts in farm prices under four years of the Nixon plan to set supports 10 to 25 percent below average market prices."

Two passengers were slightly injured in a two-car crash at 3:30 p.m. yesterday on the Circleville-Steubenville Road eight miles east of here.

Juanita Johnson, 34, Stoutsville, suffered a lacerated lip and had several teeth knocked loose. She was a passenger in a car driven by Ray Johnson, 46, Stoutsville.

Eva Allen, 78, Bowling Green, Ky., received a bump on the head and a cut on the right knee. The auto she was in was driven by Samuel H. Allen, 84, Bowling Green.

The injured passengers refused hospital treatment, but were referred to a doctor.

Johnson, headed east, said the other car pulled out in front of him. Allen, driving south on the County Line Road, said he did not see the other vehicle.

Deputy Adams said both cars were heavily damaged.

Boastful Traffic Violator under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Highways Safety Director J. Grant Keys agree on one thing: Ohio's roads will never be safe until it is no longer popular to break traffic laws and boast about it.

Keys has been hammering at that theme for months. DiSalle joined him Tuesday at the Buckeye Traffic Safety Attack Conference here, saying Ohioans must "eliminate social approval of people who violate the law and boast about it."

The so-called population explosion will add to traffic safety problems, Keys told the thousand or so persons attending the one-day conference.

"Ohio anticipates that 8 to 9 million licensed drivers will be crowding the highways, as compared to 5 million now driving," he said. The keynote speaker also spoke of traffic safety as a moral problem. George C. Lowe, chairman of Philadelphia's traffic safety committee, said it is "one of the greatest social problems." One aspect, he said, is that teen-agers are involved in many accidents because no one takes the trouble to teach them proper driving habits.

Recommendations from five panels that met during the day included:

Re-examination of all drivers every six years. Review of the state's courts in relation to handling of traffic violations.

Full-time driver education instructors in Ohio high schools.

A full-time state supervisor of driver education in the Ohio Department of Education (This now is a part-time assignment in the department.)

A safety center for training enforcement officers and for research. (This has been a Highway Safety Department goal for some time.)

How Big Six States Look

Challenge in California May Be Painful for Nixon

Editor's Note—It takes 268 electoral votes to win the presidency, and six great states have about 70 per cent of that total. Here's an Associated Press story on the prospects in California, which has 32 electoral votes, the same number as Pennsylvania and second only to New York. Articles on Illinois, Texas and Pennsylvania will follow.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is seriously challenging Richard M. Nixon where it may hurt the most — right here in the vice president's home state.

Some signs—disputed by Republicans — indicate Kennedy may take California. There's a strong feeling that it's going to be close. The polls haven't been much help. They have turned up enough of the undecided among 7½ million registered voters to swing the result for either man.

The latest professional poll — this among 3,018 voters in 16 of the 58 counties—favored Nixon 49.9 to 43.3 per cent, with 6.2 per cent on the fence.

But Las Vegas bookmakers list Kennedy as a 7-5 favorite in California.

Democrats feel the scene was set in 1958 when Gov. Edmund G.

Brown, a Catholic, led a Democratic landslide that captured every state office but one.

This year the party staged a successful registration drive that gained 619,000 voters since the primary and boosted its 3-2 registration lead over the Republicans to 1.4 million. The GOP picked up 406,000 in the same period.

Democratic leaders say they're concerned only over the "silent vote"—those people who are quiet

Council Takes No Action

City Council last night took no official action since only four of the seven members were present.

The solons did hear objections to proposed assessments for the Pontius Lane-Griner Avenue-Nicholas Drive area curbs and gutters and storm sewer improvements. The matter was referred to Service Director Harlow Arledge.

The second reading for closing an alley between Scioto St. and Maplewood Ave. adjacent to the Coca Cola Bottling plant, was heard.

Complete Campaign Coverage

It is doubtful that newspapers ever provided such complete coverage of a political campaign for their reader as this year. Wire services and the larger dailies have hundreds of reporters devoting their full time to day-by-day accounts of speeches by the candidates and their top rung supporters.

Telegraph facilities frequently are swamped as a campaign caravan, accompanied by dozens of newsmen, hits a town. Everything a candidate says or does is flashed almost instantly to 1,700 daily newspapers. Frequently within minutes an edition is on the street with all the details.

The newspapers of the nation provide a running account of the campaign that transcends anything ever seen, anywhere at any time, in history. Although most newspapers have made a choice as to candidates, in their news columns they present all the news of the campaign as it happens. Background material, to supplement spot news, has been provided in such quantity that there is no excuse for any newspaper reader not knowing what has happened to date.

To obtain and print the hundreds of thousands of words about the campaign that have appeared in the average newspaper is a costly undertaking. But American newspapers have never quailed at the cost when there was a big news story, to present to their readers.

Yawn Yields to War Whoop

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — It began with a yawn, and is winding up amid war whoops.

In just one week the 1960 presidential race will be over, and Pat Nixon or Jackie Kennedy can settle down to the serious problem of what to do about the White House draperies.

In just seven more days everybody will know for sure who has been elected, and the many-faceted political battle that preceded it will be part of American folklore.

A lot of people feel they know the answer right now, but they really don't.

Polls can measure some things about people to a limited degree, but they are, after all, mere attempts at measurement and prediction.

They aren't the people themselves. It is their unpredictability that make both politics and people interesting.

"All the straw votes show is which way the hot air blows" observed O. Henry.

The only votes that really count are those in the nation's ballot boxes next Tuesday.

One of the great mysteries of the 1960 campaign is whatever happened to all the people who found it boring. Somehow they seem to have disappeared.

At the beginning of the race, an English newspaperman remarked: "I can't get interested in a controversy between two American mediocrities."

Somehow, however, that early atmosphere of wisecracking apathy and political indifference vanished.

Two factors probably influenced the change:

1. The performance of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba at the United Nations awoke a lot of complacent Americans to the potential perils of a future they had been taking for granted.

2. The series of four televised debates between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon further educated great masses to the vital importance of the presidential choice they must make next Tuesday.

Some said they found these intellectual clashes between the rival candidates flat, dull and uninspiring, but millions of other people obviously didn't.

These face-to-face and mind-to-mind television confrontations brought to the campaign the dramatic excitement it had lacked before. They brought the heat of the campaign into the national living room.

They made it a personal duel between two men.

Massive crowds now turn out to greet each candidate, and the electorate is wide-awake to the vital need of expressing its will in a dubious time. It knows thoroughly the men, the issues, the dangers ahead.

Just One Side of Coin

By George Sokolsky

Vincent Hallinan is an American lawyer who was invited by Soviet Russia to attend the trial of Francis Gary Powers in Moscow. Powers, you may recall, is an American airman flying a U-2 who came down or was brought down in Soviet Russia at an opportune time for Khrushchev to have an excuse to destroy the Paris Summit Conference.

Hallinan was not an observer for the Government of the United States; he was an observer for the government of Soviet Russia. Hallinan wrote a report of the Powers trial which had to do with espionage in Soviet Russia. Among the significant items in Hallinan's report is:

"High Air Force officers had assured Powers that the Soviet radar was ineffective at the place where he crossed the frontier. It picked him up at the moment he did so. They told him that he could not be hit from the ground and that no Soviet fighter could attain the altitude of the U-2. He was knocked down by the first rocket. He was given watches, rings and rubies to bribe the people of the U.S.S.R. to betray their country — the most fiercely patriotic people on earth."

This cannot be quite correct because it is now known that the United States had been engaged in reconnaissance and photographing flights over Soviet Russia for four years and therefore the question must be asked, why the pretense of sudden surprise over the Powers U-2 flight? Also, how could a rocket bring the plane down without destroying Powers, who arrived on earth whole, with his equipment intact and available for Soviet inspection?

According to Hallinan, Powers said:

"I don't know how I was supposed to bribe them — I can't speak a word of their language."

Surely the lack of knowledge of a language has never made bribery impossible or even difficult. There is such a thing as sign language, if one wants to use it. Hallinan would say, probably, that the Russians are "the most fiercely patriotic people on earth" and therefore would not accept bribes. That has not been universal experience with Russians any more than it has been with Germans, even Nazi Germans, who made a fetish of patriotism. Also, why is not Hallinan so fiercely patriotic about the United States?

It is curious that Hallinan makes much of Powers' acceptance of his plight in Soviet Russia. How could a man who is sentenced to imprisonment take it so lightly heartily? In fact, Hallinan's report is so favorable to Powers that it casts suspicion upon the flyer:

"I have been asked if there were any 'brain-washing' in the case. I answer that indeed there was, but not in the accepted sense. Powers and I discussed the applause of the audience. He was sure that the Russian (the prosecutor) had not asked for the death penalty. He shook his head ruefully. 'I've sure changed my mind about a lot of things since I've been here'."

It is rather unbelievable that any American would hold Hallinan's views. Yet this is what he puts in his report:

"We compare the minds which are directing this renaissance of human thought and achievement with those which managed the Powers' fiasco and we wonder: 'If we finally force this country into war, how long will it take it to wipe our own country from the face of the earth?'"

"Right now, our security from that possibility depends on the good sense, patience and forbearance of the Soviet leaders and upon their ability to maintain a military strength beyond what might tempt our bully boys to attack it."

"One thing which the American public must realize is that the presence of our bomber bases along the frontiers of the U.S.S.R., the probing of its defenses and the insulting truculence of our political and military cavemen can erupt in a cataclysm which will destroy the human species."

This was, of course, written before Khrushchev exhibited his refinement and culture in the United Nations. It was written before the manners of an unruly moujik.

Why is Soviet Russia always right and the United States always wrong in this lawyer's eyes? No wonder the Russians selected him as an observer — impartial perhaps!

The number of school children who study musical instruments has quadrupled since 1947.

"I think inheriting all that money has gone to Tex's head."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BUXOM DIVORCEE had taken a fancy to one of the cowboys at an Idaho dude ranch, and when a beautiful young blonde attached herself to his side one morning, couldn't avoid making the introduction the blonde obviously was seeking. "Sam," she said grudgingly, "this is a new acquaintance of mine, Misses Gallagher." Sam eyed the blonde appreciatively and declared, "Ma'am, I'd be right proud to make your acquaintance."

Michael, age 11, still expressed utter scorn for the female sex, but his mother detected a note of tolerance that had been definitely lacking previously. This was particularly evident when the new neighbor, a darling little girl, 10, flounced by. "I still hate women," maintained Michael stoutly, "but there goes the one I'm going to stop hating first!"

Charley Weaver would have us believe that when his paw back home in Mt. Idy went hunting last fall, he wired a pair of antlers to his hat so he could get up close to the deer. The first deer he ran into stood up and took a shot at him.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those busy-people—the vice presidential candidates — could be using this time beating up on each other. Instead, they keep picking on the big boys.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Henry Cabot Lodge practically ignore each other while they hit a fast pace on the outskirts of the presidential campaign. But there's one thing they have in common: Both are sensitive to needing.

For that matter, so is Vice President Richard M. Nixon. So far the only one who seems to have kept his temper with the hecklers all the way through is Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Johnson, acting as a pacifier in trouble spots for Kennedy, spends a good deal of his efforts deriding Republican performances and raising hopes high for a Democratic future.

In between times he is as rough on Nixon as Kennedy is. Maybe rougher, calling him "dangerously deceptive," accusing him of "doubletalk" and "pushing the panic button" and warning to look out for the "old Nixon."

But Johnson, after being Democratic majority leader in the Senate for years, is adroit enough not to bump heads with Kennedy. The same can't be said for Lodge. But, like Lodge, Johnson can get annoyed.

Republican pickets at a Democratic rally got under his skin at Greenville, S.C., when a youthful group of them paraded in front of him with anti-Johnson signs. They were a little too personal for the tall Texan.

One said "LBJ, the counterfeiter Confederate" and another "Texas low born." Johnson fired back: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." And he suggested the young hecklers' parents "get them back in the house."

Lodge manages to get in cracks at Kennedy but on a loftier plane than Johnson inhabits in the campaign. The favorite theme of Lodge, for seven years American ambassador to the United Nations is that Nixon is a tested man.

This gives him the chance to suggest obliquely that Kennedy is not experienced enough for the presidency by suggesting the White House is not the place for "on-the-job-training."

Lodge has demonstrated great calm in brushing aside unfavorable surveys. If polls abroad show a dip in American prestige, he says that he's a better judge of this country's prestige than the United States Information Agency.

If polls at home indicate Kennedy is out in front, Lodge says he's not worried because "the polls can't predict what's going to happen."

But last week he pounded his fist and shouted angrily when some students at Western Reserve University heckled him on civil rights. Then he drew cheers when he said he favored strong civil rights legislation.

Mostly Lodge confines himself to a high-level discussion of foreign problems. But he has raised eyebrows when he got into domestic policies and said more than Nixon wanted to say.

This was when he repeatedly predicted a Negro would sit in Nixon's Cabinet, if the Republicans win. Nixon wouldn't buy that. Several times he tried to correct his running mate by saying Cabinet jobs will go to the men best qualified.

And while Lodge has expressed support for federal aid to both public and parochial schools, Nixon has been much less outspoken on this subject and Kennedy has flatfootedly opposed federal help to Catholic schools.

Last week in Michigan, where eggs and tomatoes had been thrown at him, Nixon turned on a small crew of hecklers in an otherwise friendly crowd.

"Don't try anything on me or we'll take care of you," he said. "All you do is show your bad manners. Now, boys, go on around. I didn't hire you. So stay right out of here, okay?"

Hecklers have been on Kennedy's back, too, but, judging from news reports, he's stayed calm even when a woman in Milwaukee threw a glass of whisky in his face and threw the glass after it. The glass hit one of Kennedy's staff.

The senator picked up the empty tumbler and handed it back to the woman, saying: "Here's your glass."

HOW THEY RAN BEFORE

The Life Story of Richard Nixon

Illustrated by A. S. Packer

SHORTLY AFTER Pearl Harbor, Nixon went to work for the OPA in Washington. But after eight months he enlisted in the Navy. Dick asked for sea duty immediately, and eventually got his wish. He went overseas with the Combat Air Transport Command and spent 15 months in the South Pacific as an operations officer. Once, on Bougainville, his outfit was under Japanese bombardment for 28 out of 30 nights for his group was charged with the difficult and dangerous responsibility of hauling cargo to the fighting zones...

... When Nixon returned to the states the Navy gave him some legal work to do. He was assigned to a team of experts that was settling war contracts. On one job his duties carried him to New York City, and Dwight Eisenhower's triumphant victory parade was held while he was there. It was Nixon's first glimpse of Eisenhower. And as he watched, an obscure Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy, little did he realize that in a few years he would be the running mate of the General in a bitter presidential campaign...

The Big Decision

... Late in 1945, a California Republican citizens committee ran a newspaper ad for a candidate to run against New Deal Congressman Jerry Voorhis. A friend called Nixon in Baltimore where he was awaiting discharge and asked to submit his name. He agreed, and got the job over three others.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Proof of the Pudding!

DEAR ABBY: I was happy to see you state in your column that writing to strangers was "for the birds." At first glance you might have appeared heartless because there are so many deserving people who want pen pals. But you were right, Abby; it is much safer to develop a pen pal through a third party who knows both parties fairly well.

My sister, a widow, 53, found a "pen pal" through a magazine. Before she was through, it cost her $3600 and attorney fees. Her "pen pal" posed as a retired farmer, widower and church-going Lutheran. He turned out to be a married man with a long record for embezzlements, no Lutheran, and all he had was a flair for writing and a good imagination.

WITH YOU ALL THE WAY

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of five grown children. Each has made me a grandma many times. My son had four children. His wife got involved with another man (married) and bore him a child, but my son continues to live with her because of their other children. She says she is ashamed and sorry, but we are heartbroken. My problem is that my income is small. I always remember my grandchildren on Christmas and their birthdays. Should I, knowing this child is nothing to me, give him a birthday and Christmas gift?

NOT HIS GRANDMA
DEAR NOT: Certainly. Why punish the child for his mother's mistake?

DEAR ABBY: My next door neighbor is the best hearted person in the world. She's always doing something nice for people, and everyone likes her. But she can't get through two sentences without using half a dozen swear words. When she comes over I send my youngsters outside so they won't pick up any of the terrible words she uses. Some say to ignore it. Others say to tell her off. What do you say?

GOOD NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: Don't tell her off—tell her. A practical solution for chronic cursers is to substitute some home-made gobbledygook for some of the stronger epithets. It may not convert a mule skinner into a choir boy overnight—but it will help.

DEAR ABBY: Do people REALLY get gray hair from worrying or is it just a natural phenomenon?

NOT GRAY YET
DEAR NOT GRAY: It's a combination of the hereditary factors, a natural phenomenon. Some people have been known to "turn gray" from a shattering emotional experience.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Former U.S. Presidents Discussed by DUV Members

Discussion of former United States Presidents headed the monthly meeting of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, 1861-1865, session last night in the post room of Memorial Hall.

Mrs. E. A. Smith presided during the meeting which opened in ritualistic form with Mrs. C. O. Kerns, patriotic instructor, leading the group in the Pledge of Allegiance and the American Creed.

Nomination of officers for the coming year was held. Members discussed the annual Daughters Day Dinner to be held at Kerns Restaurant. No definite date was set.

Mrs. Kerns, program chairman, opened with the reading entitled "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep."

Mrs. Clara DeLong read an article on James A. Garfield followed by Mrs. Hattie Pickens giving an introduction to Woodrow Wilson.

"House by the Side of the Road" was voiced by Mrs. Smith. A report on Calvin Coolidge was presented by Mrs. B. M. Wignel.

Mrs. Smith gave statistics on former presidents of the United States followed by a round-table discussion.

The program closed with the reading "Flag Is Passing By", by

A piece of corned beef brisket weighing about 3 pounds usually needs 3 to 3 1/2 hours cooking when it is covered with water and simmered.

Election of officers will head the next meeting, November 6. Place to be announced at a later date.

Rockefeller To Testify in 'Booing' Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has been subpoenaed to testify in the case of two men who claim they were arrested for booing him at a Saturday night street corner political rally.

The two defendants, Gerardo Cartagena and Ralph Bonet, were charged with disorderly conduct. Cartagena, who professed himself a supporter of Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy, claimed he was hit by a policeman's nightstick.

The governor is campaigning for the Republican ticket.

Rockefeller was subpoenaed by Mark Lane, attorney for the two men, to appear in court Thursday and tell exactly what occurred.

Concerning Cartagena, Lane said: "He told me he was booing. He said he was called forward by the governor and asked, 'How much are they paying you?'"

The lawyer said Cartagena replied that "They're not paying me anything. I just like Kennedy."

The lawyer quoted Rockefeller as asking Cartagena then: "Why don't you go home?" With that, the attorney said, Cartagena was told by a policeman that he was under arrest.

The other defendant, Bonet, was quoted as saying he was arrested "for just booing."

Cabinet Aides Plan Mission To Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon will visit West Germany later this month to urge increased German aid to underdeveloped areas.

This was announced today by the Treasury, which has long felt that prospering West Germany should take a greater part in the foreign aid burden now borne by the United States.

A Treasury spokesman said arrangements for the Anderson-Dillon trip were made several weeks ago.

The U.S. foreign aid program is a major contributing factor to the persistent deficit in the United States balance of international payments. This deficit has caused a steady outflow of gold which, in turn, was one of the principal causes of a recent wild speculation in international gold markets.

Reports from Bonn that President Eisenhower has written Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the United States may have to cut its troop strength in Germany brought denial of any such plans by informed authorities here.

These sources said the United States has no intention of cutting back on armed strength in Germany. However, they said some consideration is being given to means of reducing expenses related to dependents and other support items for the troops in Germany.

Yankee Dollars Rushed Abroad For Investment

$1.3 Billion Listed
By Federal Agency
As Going Overseas

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The rush of Yankee dollars into investments abroad is dramatized by General Motor's announcement it is sharply increasing its overseas capital spending.

GM sights a growing market abroad for its products—and apparently feels it can best assure this market by building and expanding its plants on the scene.

The general trend in foreign investment outlays is noted by the Department of Commerce. It says U.S. manufacturers this year are spending $1.3 billion for foreign plants and equipment. This is almost as much as the record of $1.35 billion in 1957, and $100 million more than was spent in either 1958 or 1959.

The motor industry has been one of the leaders in the movement. But the oil industry probably ranks first. The petroleum department of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York puts American oil companies' fixed assets abroad at $16 billion, out of a total industry overseas investment of $42.6 billion. This is in addition to the $54.7 billion of the industry's fixed assets in the United States. Total investment in the non-Communist world expanded 2.8 times between 1949 and 1959.

American rubber companies
also have spent large sums abroad. The Department of Commerce says that last year 27 per cent of their plant and equipment spending was overseas. Electrical manufacturing and chemical companies each spent 15 per cent of their budgets abroad.

Ardor for these overseas outlays apparently is only slightly dampened by recurring political crises, one of the latest being Cuba's seizure of American plants and investments.

Private U.S. investment abroad
also has been cited as one of the reasons that for three years more American dollars have been going overseas than have been coming back as payment for exports or as return on investments. Added to the costs of imports, foreign aid and foreign travel, this has been a factor in a marked loss in the U.S. supply of gold.

This was recently dramatized by a rise in the price of gold on the free market well above the legal U.S. price of $35 an ounce.

Only about a fourth of the investments abroad comes out of funds originating in the United States, the Commerce Department says. The firms get at least half of their requirements out of retained earnings of their overseas plants and from depreciation and depletion charges. And in 1959 foreign creditors and investors supplied almost $1 billion.

Thus the parent companies and others in the United States supplied $1.2 billion out of the total $4.8 billion spent abroad.

GOP Congressman Violates Privilege

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—
The U.S. Post Office has ruled that a Westchester County congressman's newsletter to constituents was political in nature and not entitled to be mailed free under franking privileges.

The congressman, Edwin B.
Dooley, a Republican, said he had paid $520 for mailing 13,000 newsletters after the ruling.

The newsletter has been the subject of a political fight between Dooley and his Democratic opponent, Phil S. Gilbert Jr., a New York attorney.

9 Out of 10 Ohio Drivers Observe Speed Limit-but

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nine out of 10 motorists in Ohio drive
within the legal speed limits.
Standing by itself, this statement by Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, head of the Ohio Highway Patrol, sounds good.

But . . . .
Radcliffe points out that the other 10 per cent who violate the speed limits represent an astounding 500,000 to 600,000 drivers!

Speed, the colonel said, accounts for almost half of all accidents, with inattention and poor judgement chief secondary causes.

The judgement part of the trouble, Radcliffe said, accounted for 12,658 accidents in 1959, and speed in excess of limits for another 3,600. In those accidents, 1839 fatalities occurred.

Conversely, speed in excess of limits accounted for 46,787 of the total 112,499 arrests made by the patrol last year. Arrests for driving too fast under the conditions

accounted for another 7,243.

Are drivers learning to avoid accidents? The 1960 figure through June 30 do not show that they are.
Patrol figures show 18,236 accidents investigated in that period against a total of 37,058 in 1959.

Since the last half of the year
includes most of the summer driving, the 1960 accidents total might exceed the 1959 figure.

The patrol finds that inattention is back of so many violations that it warns the public to be more alert. Radcliffe said many drivers involved in accidents say they didn't see the stop sign or the warning signal. Said Radcliffe:

"This kind of driver doesn't keep his eyes on the road and his mind
on driving."

Most fatal accidents occur on the open road where speed plays
the role of hero to death.

Up north on Ohio's turnpike, the greatest cause of accidents is driver sleepiness, said James W.
Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission. Yet even on this super road, excessive speed accounted for 11,829 of the total 14,594 arrests made in 1959 for moving violations.

Motorists are asked by the patrol to be careful to see that their vehicles are in good mechanical shape. In 1959 the patrol gave 134,000 warnings to motorists

whose lights were defective.

To point up the fact that the
"open road" is the most dangerous
patrol Lt. Edward E. Smith, statistician, points to fatalities of various states whose traffic has "room to move fast." Smith gave these total deaths by states in 1959:

California, 3,585; Texas, 2,439;
New York, 1,986; Pennsylvania
1,608; Michigan, 1,440, and Indiana
1,119.

While Ohio is up high in the first 10 states, its rate of deaths per 100-million car miles traveled was lower than the national rate in 1959.

Ohio's rate was 4.8. The United States over-all rate was 5.4. Since 1955, Ohio has reduced this factor
21 per cent. In 1955 it was 6.1,
Smith said.

Radcliffe said education holds more promise than more rigid enforcement to bringing the highway deaths down. He said, however, that the mere presence of Highway Patrol cruisers on the highway has a modifying effect on fast and reckless driving.

Trial Delayed For Parents In Kidnaping

CLEVELAND (AP)—A hearing was continued today until Nov. 14
for Mr. and Mrs. James Broyles, charged in a Georgia warrant with kidnaping their 3-year-old daughter from a foster home in that state.

Georgia authorities are seeking to extradite the Cleveland couple on fugitive charges and claim they have a letter from Gov. Michael
V. DiSalle honoring the warrant.

But Municipal Court Judge
James T. Cassidy continued the hearing until the mid-month date to permit the couple to take their case to DiSalle Nov. 10.

On Sept. 20, Common Pleas Court Judge Dan Wasserman
granted a habeas corpus action which restored blonde Dorothy Ann Patterson to her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson of Trenton, Ga.

The Pattersons and Georgia authorities contend the Broyles couple and two unidentified men went to the Patterson home early in September and took the child at gunpoint.

Mrs. Broyles claims the girl was left with a grandmother who then gave her to the Pattersons, and that she had no knowledge of a Georgia court order authorizing the Pattersons to adopt Dorothy Ann.

British Base OK For U.S. A-Subs

LONDON (AP)—Britain has agreed to provide a base for roving U.S. nuclear submarines armed with Polaris missiles.
Prime Minister Harold Macmillan
informed the House of Commons
today.

The anchorage, with a depot ship and a floating dock, will be located in the Holy Loch in the River Clyde, Scotland. February is the target date for establishing the depot ship. The floating dock will follow later.

The prime minister said the agreement was reached "to serve and strengthen" the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Macmillan emphasized, however, that the base is for U.S.
submarines "on routine patrol in peacetime."

"Their real home port and their refitting base would still be on the other side of the Atlantic,"
the prime minister said.

What are tekitties? They are small fragments of glass that are scattered over widely separated parts of the earth. No one is sure where they came from.

GARDEN

Edited and Compiled by
Mrs. Elizabeth Jones

Garden Gossip

Floyd Bartley, Skipper Hansen, Emmitt Barnhart and Johnny Barnhart went on a field trip last weekend in search of specimen materials for botanical collections.

Mrs. Robert Bower, Route 1, Kingston, was more than delighted when she received allium bulbs (different colors) in the plant exchange at the Logan Elm Garden Club on Thursday.

Alliums should be planted more extensively. Their flowers are both beautiful and interesting and come in the widest variety of colors, even a true blue.

Pauline Schiff, who is especially interested in new and unusual plant material has had allium in her garden for at least three years.

At the plant exchange Logan Elm members brought everything from tropical plants for the house to iris, mums and glads.

Mrs. Ed Fetherolf's favorite, or one of her many favorite, house plants is flowering maple. It has a single blossom (like a little hollyhock) and comes in shades of red, salmon and peach. She grows it from seed.

NOBODY had better luck with garden chrysanthemums than Miss Anna Schleyer, S. Scioto St.

Mrs. Emmanuel Schall's garden was not demolished by frost. Her rows of blue salvia and fall chrysanthemums are just as colorful as before Jack Frost made his appearance.

Ruth Montelius entered a white rose in the Pumpkin Show flower show. She had kept it under refrigeration for a long time and it was in excellent condition. Miss Montelius was most interested in the specimen roses. We're here to bet she'll have winners next year in the rose show.

Ed Ingam's specialty is iris. But he has many other "fill-ins". And one "fill-in" is going to be delphinium. His plants for the most part were seedlings from Gladys Hedges' garden.

Delphinium is difficult and temperamental to grow. But as the catalogues say "Well worth the trouble". You'll find it in fewer than six per cent of the county's gardens.

Last week I heard a quacking and honking over head and saw a flock of geese. Two of them stayed behind. They are slate gray in color and unbelievably tame. Our cats like to sneak up on them. But Ralph Leist says not to worry about the geese they can hold their own with cats.

Ralph Leist, courthouse fireman came to look over pond over. He says the geese will leave when another flock flies over.

Mrs. Pryor Harmount had excellent marigolds the seeds of which came from the late Mrs. Laura Wilkins. Even last year Mrs. Wilkins had sent entries for the Pumpkin Show by her niece, Mrs. Harry Wright.

C. H. Bowen, the Chillicothe dahlia man, had fabulous dahlia specimens on exhibit at Pumpkin Show. One of Bowen's exhibits was a vase of seed grown cactus dahlias in many beautiful colors. The seed were planted in April.

PEOPLE wanted to know where Bowen got his seed. Some came from Africa and some from Australia.

Plant Society people have lots of fun corresponding with fanciers in foreign lands.

The garden editor wrote to Japan to the director of the Japanese Rose Society to find out about the blue roses that Mrs. Paul Woods saw in Tokyo. Kanichi Takeda, the director, says that he knows nothing about blue roses in Japan.

Mrs. Woods has articles from Tokyo newspapers about the blue roses from The Emperor's garden. I am planning to sent Mr. Takeda the dates and names of the papers.

We wonder now if the roses were a hoax to fool some garden editor. Imagine what fun some joker could have at my expense if he would dye a rose blue and enter it in a flower show.

We've never seen the Charlie Thompson planter when it was planted. Alice says that pink cosmos, pink snapdragons and pink petunias were in it this summer and she was really proud of it. Sounds lovely!

At the flower show at Pumpkin Show time I asked Cynthia Thompson to do an errand for me. A few minutes after she left I heard her mother calling for her. Cynthia was supposed to be helping her mother carry entries.

Mrs. Reginald Blue of Frankfort took her flower show judges' reading examination Thursday. She was not able to drive to Canton for it but Mrs. James Jackson of Ewington, served as special proctor in Mrs. Blue's home.

People have been asking me how to pronounce the name of St. Fiacre, the patron saint of gardeners. The accent is on the second syllable. The dictionary says it is pronounced this way: Fiackker. It's French.

MAYBE that's why St. Fiackre has been so neglected — people were not sure how to pronounce his name.

You seldom see a St. Fiacre sta-

1960 Summer A Good One In Retrospect

Plenty of Rains,
Heavy Fruit Crops
Mark Season

It was a good garden-year in retrospect. It looked as though the 1960 spring never would arrive. Winter just lingered and lingered. But shrubs including lilacs and Forsythia were never more heavy with blossom.

The fruit trees bloomed so late the frost did not harm them so that the blossom laden branches turned into fruit laden trees. A heavier fruiting crop we've never had in Pickaway County.

The first crop of roses topped anything we've ever had. It was the rule rather than the exception to grow four and five inch roses. Peace roses averaged six inches and we do mean average.

People who gambled on summer rains and planted grass seed late came out ahead. Annuals that were planted late bloomed in plenty of time. And what the roses were in early summer the marigolds were in late summer. The marigolds (bless'em they always give a good performance) were superb.

DAHLIAS had an off - again, on-again season. The dry heat of early September played the dickens with the dahlias but by frost they had regained their health and were blooming their heads off.

People in general had good luck with seed planters. Gardeners had lots of fun with seed mats watching the many different kinds of flowers come up and bloom.

Bulbs did well from early blooming crocus to late glads. But you can always count on bulbs.

The bumper blackberry crop was a month late.

Lawns were emerald green the summer through. The only time they browned up was the dry spell in September. And lawn mowers were used more extensively than they have been in many a year. Just no rest for the man who mowed the grass!

Riding lawn mowers increased in popularity.

BLACKSPOT and mildew marred the last of the roses and mildew attacked other plants as well as such as zinnias.

A new chemical preparation Phaltan, was used successfully to combat blackspot by some rose growers and at the Park of Roses. All in all it was a good year for gardeners.

But the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts has such a replica listed among the masterpieces which are available in replica.

Brentano's in New York City has St. Fiacre replicas from the museum for sale. Brentano's address is: 586 Fifth Ave., New York 36, N. Y.

Mrs. Theodore Huston had charge of the houseplant, fruitcake, calendar and cookbook sale at the Pumpkin Show Flower Exhibit. A tough job so help me. And when we said she looked as though she was enjoying herself she said she was.

Local Girl Is Assistant To Professor of Botany

Phyllis McCoard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. McCoard, 952 Circle Drive, is a sophomore at Ohio University with the honor of also being an assistant to Professor Gambill of the biological science department.

This assistantship, rare for a sophomore, is actually not a sudden piece of good luck. It is the result of many years of interest, study and work.

From the time she was in the first grade Phyllis McCoard has been under the tutelage of Floyd Bartley, Pickaway County's own distinguished naturalist.

Mrs. McCoard says that her daughter always showed a keen interest in flowers and garden plants. Because of this interest Mrs. McCoard included her when she took a nature tour scheduled by the Pickaway Garden Club. Phyllis was then in the first grade.

Floyd Bartley conducted the tour. And of all the persons on the tour none showed more enthusiasm or aptitude than Mrs. McCoard's little daughter.

SINCE then Phyllis has accompanied Floyd Bartley on hundreds of field trips. In fact when Floyd Bartley scheduled a trip for a large group he frequently asked Phyllis to serve as assistant guide.

Mrs. McCoard laughingly recalls Bartley's great patience with his little student who had difficulty at first spelling out the long botanical names.

Naturally Phyllis McCoard had excellent collections of wild flowers all carefully classified and labeled with the botanical name of the plant, the date and the place where the specimen was found.

Only this fall she collected 200 specimen leaves for her dendrology course. (If you are wondering, dendrology, is the study of trees and shrubs. For this interested young naturalist it was not too much of a chore.

Because he recognized her ability Bartley has shared with Phyllis McCoard all his rare finds and things he knew would interest her.

PHYLLIS McCoard's scouting career was a happy holiday of working for scout badges that had to do with nature. According to her mother she earned every badge in that field of endeavor.

Phyllis McCoard's major will be sociology. But she has discovered that if she takes all the courses in botanical science that she plans on she'll have herself another major — one in botanical science a subject which has long been so dear to her heart.

Include Fatsia Among Your Houseplants

Today's indoor gardeners are finding Fatsia Japonica a houseplant of real excellence. Fatsia is an evergreen tender shrub and a native of Japan. It belongs to the Aralia family, Araliaceae.

When grown in the south as a garden plant it reaches small tree height.

It is popular in the north as a foliage plant because of its deeply lobed dark green glossy leaves which are sometimes 12 inches across.

Fatsia is easily increased from cuttings or grown from seeds. When plants become too big for indoors their size may be reduced by air layering.

THERE is a variegated variety also. Fatsia Moseri, is a compact variety and for that reason is very popular as a houseplant.

When fatsia and English ivy (Hedera Helix) are crossed the resulting hybrid is named Fatschedera.

This makes an excellent houseplant indeed. It grows in a poor light and needs rich soil and moderate watering.

Variegated fatschedera is a beautiful but less vigorous variety.

Archeologists are trying to find out what happened to Pueblo Indians who vanished from Colorado's Wetherill Mesa section before 1300 A.D.

Curious Headache Chemical Tops Current Health News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A curious headache chemical, safety-first medicine cabinet, and familiar hydrogen peroxide figure in this week's Focus on Health.

Headache Agent
A medical team tells of finding a strange chemical involved in migraine-type headaches. This chemical, named neurokinin, apparently increases susceptibility to pain.

Neurokinin apparently is released when nerve cells are excited, and it has powerful ability to dilate blood vessels, say Dr. Harold G. Wolff and associates of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center in the Archives of Neurology. Neurokinin apparently is formed in human tissues by a special enzyme, the researchers find.

'Flu Vaccine
With winter and 'flu threats approaching, experts are urging 'flu shots especially for anyone with heart or blood vessel diseases.

Medical evidence over the last three years has confirmed that risks from influenza are greater for patients with heart or lung ailments than for other persons, say Dr. A. Carlton Ernstene, president of the American Heart Assn., and Dr. James Watt, director of the National Heart Institute.

Safe Medicine Cabinet
A medicine cabinet which will open only when two particular buttons are pushed simultaneously has been developed by Dr. A. L. Chapman of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The idea is to make it impossible for children to open the cabinet and accidentally swallow dangerous drugs. The cabinet, now being considered for manufacture, has five buttons, but opens only when the second and fourth buttons are spaced too far apart for a child's hand to span. Drug poisoning killed more than 400 children in 1958, comments Scope Weekly.

New Job
Hydrogen peroxide, an old medical standby, seems destined for revival as a germ killer in ointment form, says Drs. Herbert M. Cobe and Emanuel Plouis of Temple University.

The ointment cleanses wounds, and also appears effective against some of the most resistant strains of staphylococci, which are responsible for many serious infections.

LBJ Outlines Why Nixon Is 'Dangerous'

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson spelled out today the basis for his charge that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is a "dangerous man."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate used the term without elaboration in Missouri Monday.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic rally in Chicago today, he ridiculed the Republican candidate's campaign tactics.

"He (Nixon) ignores our troubles by claiming they don't exist," Johnson said.

"He covers up the sore spots with a talcum powder make-up of tranquility."

"He closes the blinds of the windows that look out upon a turbulent world. While the storm rages outside, he sits in a sound-proof room listening to the status quo songs of Republican complacency."

"It is time to remind the vice president that American independence wasn't won by a philosophy of 'all's well with the world and it cannot be better.' Johnson said all Nixon offered was "cut down, stripped down versions of Democratic programs."

"It is dangerous to elect a man like this to be president of the United States," the Texan said.

U.N. Headed for Vote On Cuba's Rap at U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly headed for a vote today on Cuba's bid for immediate assembly debate on the Cuban charge that the United States plans an invasion against Fidel Castro's regime.

Diplomats predicted the 99-nation forum would hand the Cubans and their Soviet bloc backers a strong rebuff by sending the Cuban complaint to the assembly's political committee first. That was the procedure recommended by the assembly's steering committee.

Steel Mills Face Tighter Profit Pinch

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry faces a tighter squeeze on profits, the trade publication Iron Age said today.

Nevertheless, the likelihood of a general price increase is small until the market strengthens, the magazine added.

The low profit outlook was attributed to these factors:

- Higher labor costs after steelworkers get a pay raise Dec. 1; costlier shorter rolling schedules as mills try to give fast service during a period of light orders; high cost of carrying inventories to provide fast delivery, and the prospect of operations slumping further in the next few weeks.

Iron Age said an indication that steelmakers are not contemplating an imminent price increase is that there has been no notification to tinplate users. Producers usually advise their customers 35 days in advance of a price change.

Other price developments include:

- Some stainless steel prices have declined.

Drink Lures Bear

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Nervous police officers lured a black bear back to his cage on a highway with two bottles of soft drink and a quart of milk.

The bear had escaped from its cage in front of a motel, entered a chicken house and was calmly devouring a hen when police arrived.

The offer of a soda and milk chaser was complacently accepted and the bear was again caged.

Cleveland GOP Hopes Dick To Accompany Ike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Republicans "haven't given up hope yet" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will accompany President Eisenhower on a visit here Friday. However, Cuyahoga County's GOP chairman, A. L. DeMaiores, said Tuesday night there is only "a very slight chance."

School Board Eyes Election

The Circleville Board of Education faced its lightest agenda last night. The only matter up for official discussion was extension of a school bus run, but that was delayed to a later date.

Board members talked about the forthcoming $550,000 school bond issue. They OK'd a letter which will be sent to parents prior to next Tuesday balloting.

Junior High At Frankfort

Tiny Tigers Out To Protect Record

Circleville's Junior High football squad closes out its season tomorrow with a trip to Frankfort. The kickoff is set for 6 p. m.

The Tiny Tigers have posted a brilliant record in their first season of football as indicated by their record of four wins, one tie and no losses. The only blemish is a 0-0 deadlock at Lancaster Thomas Ewing.

One of the four victories was a 24-6 verdict over Frankfort in a test here last week. In regular season play the daring Bengals have allowed only two touchdowns to be scored against them.

However, Coaches Paul Sarchet and Ralph Starkey have emphasized that Frankfort cannot be taken lightly tomorrow. This rings true mainly because of the running and all around play of Joe Yager, Frankfort's ace fullback. The passing of Quarterback Butch Hittinger is another contending factor.

ALTHOUGH Frankfort is dangerous with its single wing offense, the Tiny Tigers have their own brand of shock troops in the form of Hogie Dade, the team's leading scorer, Eddie Smith, Jim Wood, Mick Tomlinson and the quarterback trio of Chip Harrod, John Magill and Terry Campbell.

Giving the ground troops able support are linemen Ronnie Smith, George Ramey, Don Fausnaugh, Rich Samuel, Jeff Ankrom, Jack Martin, Glen Easterday, Ronnie Seward, Charlie Martin and other reinforcements.

Last week against the Ross Colts, Wood lighted a spark by taking a kickoff and racing 85 yards to score to break a 6-6 deadlock. Dade displayed his usual fine running with two touchdowns, one on a 67-yard shot and the other on a dash of 59 yards.

The Bengal defense was bolstered by two interceptions, one by Dade and the other by Merle Bethel.

Parmer New President of Little League

Election of directors and naming of officers for the 1961 season was a main item of business during a meeting of the Circleville Little League last night at the local courthouse.

Roy Parmer was named new president of the group, succeeding Michael Harrison who has held the job the last two years. Blen Stevenson was selected as a vice president to direct Little League play and Emmitt Dade was chosen vice president of the Babe Ruth League. J. I. Smith was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The naming of officers followed an election of 10 directors for the coming season. Accepting directorships were Parmer, Stevenson, Dade, Lee Smith, J. I. Smith, Mrs. Emmitt Dade, Mrs. Chester Iery, Michael Harrison, Al Gabriel and Paul Smallwood.

Approximately 30 persons attended the session. A discussion on the coming season was conducted by J. I. Smith.

PROPOSALS introduced include the expansion of the Little League Majors to six teams instead of the previous four and the inclusion of a four-team Minor League within the Babe Ruth Loop.

The group also voted not to join the National Little League at the present time, although the move will be held for possible future action.

Smith announced the past season ended with more than a $700 balance in the treasury, the best ever here.

The new board of directors agreed that meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month at members homes. The next meeting is scheduled December 6 at the Blen Stevenson residence at 152 Pinckney St.

Batavia Land Bought For New Industry

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Three businessmen have bought a 56-acre tract west of Batavia and say they plan to develop it for industry. William Moore and William Parsons, Batavia, and Lee Nordloh, Cincinnati, reported the purchase Tuesday and said the site is a key to growth of Batavia.

'TON OF FUN' FOR THEM—The Martins Ferry, O., High school has dubbed itself "Five Tons of Fun, Plus One" and there is good reason, too. The line, averaging 225 pounds, outweighs many college teams but the quarterback, Charlie Coss (front), hits the scales at 130 pounds. Heaviest guy in the line is Phil Ward (third left) who weighs in at 270 pounds. The team has won 17 in a row.

Cage Warfare Opens Friday With Three Games Scheduled

Basketball in Pickaway County and surrounding areas kicks off Friday with three games on the schedule.

Slated for 1960-61 lid-lighters are Monroe at Kingstons, Jackson at Clarksburg and Centralia at Huntington.

One game scheduled Saturday has Monroe at Williamsport in a non-league encounter.

Surgery Ends College Play For McKeever

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mike McKeever's college football days are over and only time will tell if he plays later as a professional.

The big University of Southern California guard successfully underwent an emergency operation Tuesday night for removal of two blood clots on the right side of the brain.

The operation followed a diagnosis by a team of medical experts who discovered fresh blood in a spinal tap of the 20-year-old, 232-pound athlete, who was a third-team choice in last year's Associated Press All-America selections.

Dr. Thomas Cline, USC team physician, said surgeons believe the first clot may have been caused by an injury McKeever sustained in the Ohio State game Oct. 1. Since then his health has deteriorated. He complained of headaches after the Ohio State game, played only one-half of the game against Georgia, Oct. 8, and a week later, against California, suited up but did not play.

Last week he played 40 minutes against Stanford and was accidentally kicked in the head. He had been unable to hold any food until he was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Tuesday.

Top Teams Tangle In Monday League

The Monday Nite Late bowling league at Circle D this week pitted some fast action as the loop's four top teams tangled for front running honors.

Circle D hooked up with first place Andy's Restaurant and defeated the leaders in all three games to move from fourth place to second, a half-game ahead of Top Hat which took three points from Hoover's Music.

On down the line in the standings its Jerry's Bar, McFarland Co., Clifton Motors and Coca-Cola.

High single game was J. Wolford's 215, followed closely by John Dietrich's 213. Dietrich was high for the series with a 549. Also over the 500 mark were Wolford, Jerry Bender, B. Loy and Jim Carter.

Top Hat walked off with team honors by rolling a 949 single game and a 2,681 series.

Major Leagues' Bickering Hit

Frick Orders Parley On Expansion Moves

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has ordered the American and National leagues to cease their bickering and get together on any future expansion.

Frick, openly disturbed over competition for the more lucrative franchises, met with league presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles Tuesday and insisted on complete cooperation.

"I don't give a darn about the two leagues," he said. "I don't care who goes where as long as the new cities meet the requirements. Any further expansion steps should be taken jointly. This should mean one league cannot expand without the other. It simply means that one league should let the other know of its plans—and also the commissioner. I'm against secret meetings in which a city suddenly finds it has a major league franchise."

Frick announced a procedure for 1961 staffing of Los Angeles and Washington, the new American League clubs. No provisions were made to supply players for Houston and New York, the new National League clubs, since they are not to operate until 1962.

Los Angeles and Washington will be entitled to sign free agents and buy or trade players under existing rules. They also will have special draft privileges.

Under normal rules, they would not be permitted to draft, because they didn't operate last season. But, at the end of the regular major league draft Nov. 28, they can get two players each at the regular selection price of $25,000 for each contract. In this special draft, not more than one player may be drafted from one club and first year men eligible in the regular draft, will be excluded.

BE SURE To VOTE NOV. 8

Voting is the sacred duty and obligation of every citizen; but, unfortunately, many people take the obligation too lightly. Less than 60% of those eligible to vote voted in the last presidential election. Our country does not penalize the citizen who does not vote, but in many countries the failure to cast a ballot carries a stiff penalty. In Mexico you are fined for not voting and barred from voting in the next election. In New Zealand you are fined $5.60 the first time you do not vote and $12.60 each time thereafter. In Belgium they fine you and publish your name as "a citizen that shirks his duty." In Argentina you go to jail for ten days if you miss three elections. Even the primitive natives of Australia have a penalty for not voting at a tribal election. If you do not vote, the winner can take all your belongings, including your wife and family. Be a good citizen — be certain that you are eligible to vote by checking with your Board of Elections and then be certain you vote when the time comes.

Mom Elliott Hopes For Tie in Game

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — "I'm going to wear dark glasses, just sit there very quiet, and hope for a tie."

That is what Mrs. J. Norman Elliott says she is going to do in Ann Arbor Saturday when Michigan and Illinois continue one of the hottest traditional football rivalries in the Big Ten.

She is the mother of the opposing coaches, Bump of Michigan and Pete of Illinois.

The Elliott brothers will be opposing each other for the first time after playing together through Bloomington High School and starting together in Michigan's backfield in the late 1940s.

"If it were a matter of life and death, I couldn't root for either one," Mrs. Elliott said in an interview. "I know each of my boys could use a victory (Michigan is 1-3 in the conference and Illinois 1-2) and will be trying for one. I know a lot of people would be disappointed in a tie. But it would make it awfully easy for me."

However, Illinois and Michigan have never played a tie game in their 45-game series.

Mrs. Elliott said there was no problem where she will sit in the huge Michigan stadium.

"Bump sent me a ticket to sit on the Michigan side," she said. "When Michigan plays at Illinois next year, I'll sit on the Illinois side. I am just going to sit there very quiet and watch. If it's not a tie, I just hope it will be a close game."

Mrs. Elliott will stay with Bump and his family.

Pete's who just turned, 34, and Bump, 36, always have been extremely close as brothers, a relationship cemented through their careers as athletic teammates.

Well, His Life Isn't All Football

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio University's Bill Hess is a winning football coach. His team has a 6-0 record and leads The Associated Press small-college football poll.

Hess thinks football 24 hours a day. He has to. It's the only way to develop champions, he says.

What event could possibly be so important to break this attention to duty.

The newspaper telephone rang. The caller informed: "This is Bill Hess. Cub Scout Pack 55 met last night at the Presbyterian Church. I'm the pack news reporter. Here's the story . . ."

Kittens-Broncos Slated Thursday

Circleville's reserve football game with Ashville will be played here Thursday starting with a 6 p. m. kickoff on the CHS gridiron.

The game was scheduled Monday, but was postponed due to rain. The CHS Kittens hold an earlier 14-6 victory over the Broncos.

Last game of the season for the reserves is scheduled Monday when Chillicothe comes here.

Ex-Notre Dame Star Recalls Startling Upset of OSU

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The hair's a bit thinner and he's a few pounds heavier around the waistline, but Andy Pilney hasn't changed much since that day 25 years ago when he was the vital factor for Notre Dame in one of football's great upsets.

Pilney, now 47 and in his seventh year as head coach at Tulane, easily recalled Notre Dame's 18-13 victory over Ohio State when he reminded today was the 25th anniversary of that game.

Football experts, and all-time great Red Grange is among them, termed Pilney's performance that day as almost incredible. And most of the 81,000 fans who sat in Ohio State's stadium at Columbus probably would agree.

Ohio State went into the game as one of the nation's top teams. And though Notre Dame was also undefeated, the Fighting Irish just weren't considered in the same class with the Scarlet.

Ohio was in front 13-0 at halftime on touchdowns by Frank Boucher and Joe Williams. With center Gomer Jones a defensive menace, Ohio State held Notre intermission.

But in the last quarter Pilney, then a 22-year-old halfback from the Kansas breadbasket, really became Notre Dame's meal ticket. His 28-yard punt return took the ball to the Ohio State 12 and Steve Miller smashed over for the score.

Pilney accounted for 75 yards of the next 78-yard scoring march with three passes and tossed to Mike Layden for the touchdown.

With less than one minute left and Ohio still in front 13-12, Pilney scooted 32 yards to the Buckeye 19, but this was his last play of the day—his last in college football. The smashing tackle that drove him out of bounds tore ligaments in his leg and Pilney left the field on a stretcher.

Bill Shakespeare took the cue from Pilney and threw the winning touchdown pass to Wayne Millner.

"Actually, we scored four touchdowns in 12 minutes, but we fumbled in the Ohio State end zone and the Buckeyes recovered," Pilney recalled.

What did life lead to the almost miraculous comeback?

"We just wanted to win and wouldn't quit," he said. "Coach (Elmer) Layden sent in three or four special plays and we used them to good advantage."

Notre Dame lost to Northwestern the following week, its only loss of the year.

"That Ohio State game took a lot out of us," he added.

Pilney will miss the reunion of the 1935 team at South Bend, Ind., this weekend when the Irish meet Pittsburgh. His Tulane team will be in Lubbock, Tex., to tangle with Texas Tech.

An English sailor, James Barley, was reported to have been swallowed by a sperm whale in 1891 and found alive 24 hours later when the whale was cut open. Biologists are dubious.

Guesspert Sees Easy OSU Win

Iowa, Navy, Ole Miss Also Get Victory Nod

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Just another reminder the late Bob Zuppke once explained a football as a prolate spheroid filled with crazy bounces. There were 16 real crazy bounces along with the 39 correct guesses last week for a .709 average. (Season's figures: 250 right, 81 wrong, .755 average).

This week's picks: Iowa over Minnesota: Iowa, with its speed, is the irresistible force. Minnesota, with its powerful line, is the immovable object. On the football field speed usually wins.

Missouri over Colorado: Mel West and his playmates guide the Tigers to a Big Eight Conference championship.

Navy over Duke: Joe Bellino will find a way of bringing sadness to the Durham crowd. Another close one.

Ohio State over Indiana: A mere romp for the Buckeyes.

Mississippi over Chattanooga: How did this ever get in here?

Southern California over Washington: It might be different if Bob Schlorer were able to play for the Huskies.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: But the Volunteers will have their hands full with Stan Gann.

Syracuse over Army: The Cadets have been playing in an entirely different league.

Elsewhere: Rice over Arkansas, Baylor over Texas, Auburn over Mississippi State, Pittsburgh over Notre Dame, UCLA over California, Purdue over Michigan.

Giants Told Browns Give No Breaks

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants were told today that they are going to have to beat the Cleveland Browns this Sunday "on ability, for they don't give you any break."

Assistant coach and chief scout Walt Yowarski said the Browns, currently tied for first place in the National Football League's Eastern Conference, "make less mental errors than any team I've seen, and always carry out their assignments."

Yowarski also warned about quarterback Milt Plum, who gives the Cleveland attack a third prong to go with fullback Jimmy Brown and halfback Bobby Mitchell.

"Plum is enjoying his greatest year," Yowarski said. "He has completed 75 per cent of his passes and has none intercepted. He'll take a loss on a pass attempt rather than throw the ball away."

"He's acquired more poise for he feels he can get back the yardage he lost on the next play," Yowarski went on. "He reminds you of Otto Graham

Lincoln-Douglas Parallel Seen in Jack-Dick Debate

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A century ago this Sunday, Abraham Lincoln was elected president of the United States. Here are some reflections on that event by Carl Sandburg, whose life and works are intertwined with Lincoln.

He observes that as the Republic nears the close of another presidential campaign, there are parallels for both camps with the 1860 race.

For Sen. John F. Kennedy: "The debates with Stephen Douglas made Lincoln a national figure. They were printed in full in the Chicago and New York papers, as well as in political journals." Most political observers agree that Kennedy's performance in the great debates surged his campaign, diminishing the "immaturity" issue.

For Vice President Richard M. Nixon: "Lincoln drove Douglas to make stands that split the Democratic party. Lincoln drew less than half of the combined vote but won because the South would not go for Douglas." Today's Republicans are looking to the South to bolster Nixon's chances.

Such matters are straws in the political whirlwind, but the 1860 and 1960 campaigns offer striking coincidences. Most notable is the recurrence of the debates. The Lincoln-Douglas encounter was in a senatorial race in 1858. Lincoln lost, but his biographer suggests that debates actually won him the presidency.

"Lincoln did little campaigning in 1860," Sandburg said. "The debates had been printed in book form, and he let the book speak for him."

Sandburg was speaking in the studio office where he is consulting on filming of "The Greatest Story Ever Told." The natural question was: How does he compare the two series of debates?

He replied with a poet's scorn: "I would like to have heard one sentence in the televised debates that was well-constructed and elevating."

West 'Happy' To See Soviet GIs Arrive

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet soldiers rode into West Berlin today, and Western Big Three officials welcomed them politely. That's right, no mistake.

It's been going on at intervals for almost 15 years.

The Russians came to take their regular turn at running Spandau Prison, where three major Nazi war criminals are still held.

Americans helped greet the officers, in their blue bell-bottomed trousers, and a detachment of about 20 men.

They formed up in the prison garden with fixed bayonets and took over from the French unit which ran the prison in October.

Next month the ceremony will be repeated when the Americans take over. The British will take over from the Americans Jan. 1. A month afterward the French will relieve the British and on March 1 it will be the Soviet turn again.

This is one of the few ways the Soviet Union still acknowledges that Berlin is occupied territory, under the rule of the four major victors in World War II. Red propagandists like to say that Berlin is, or ought to be, part of Communist East Germany.

Inside are the three main survivors of Adolf Hitler's "thousand-year Reich" and nobody else but their guards. The three are Rudolf Hess, once Hitler's deputy; Baldur von Schirach, the Nazis' youth leader, and Albert Speer, their top production expert.

3 Canton Expressway Sections Now Open

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Three of five sections in Canton's $26 million expressway are now open, with two south sections costing $10 million of the total still to be completed. Opened Tuesday was a section from Gibbs Avenue to Fulton Road, linking U.S. 62 with the mainline of the North-South Expressway. Another section opened Tuesday begins just north of Fulton Road and connects with a section, completed last year, that continues south to Sixth Street. A total of 4½ miles now is in use.

WILD GEESSE DID IT—Charles McCurry works on a plane which collided with a flock of wild geese en route from Pittsburgh to New York. The impact, 20 minutes out of Pittsburgh and 5,000 feet up, put that hole in the nose. The pilot, with 22 passengers and two other crew aboard, turned back. Recently investigation indicated that a plane taking off from Boston was crashed when it struck a horde of starlings. More than 60 persons lost their lives.

Age-Telling Gadget Also Is Chivalrous

NEW YORK (AP)—An electronic computer was shown today that will tell the age of a person who answers 10 questions.

The queries are like this: "Were you born during or before 1928?" and "Is your age an even number?" Push buttons are provided for "yes" or "no."

The device, displayed to previewers of the General Motors "Motorama" show, has been rigged to give a chivalrous answer to feminine questioners beyond their teens.

When one such comes along, the mechanical brain — after all questions have been answered — flashes an automatic "21."

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The new president of the American Osteopathic College of Radiology is Dr. Wesley V. Boudette of Dayton, Ohio. He was named yesterday at the group's convention here.

Ohio Inventor Shows New Powerboat Drive

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio inventor says he has developed a new type drive for powerboats which could revolutionize boat construction. Paul R. Baldwin of Valley City showed off his "yachting level drive" here Tuesday. The device permits mounting of propellers forward of the engine to pull the boat along instead of pushing it.

In addition to providing greater economy and efficiency, his drive makes steering considerably easier on turns and keeps the bow riding lower in the water, Baldwin said.

CORRECTION

A serious error is in circulation concerning school funds

During recent days my opponent has put out literature to the effect that I voted for a bill which reduced state aid to the Pickaway County schools.

In 1955 the Republican Legislature enacted the Grandfather Clause requiring poor school districts to consolidate and set an expiration date. All school districts which failed to get consolidation completed prior to the expiration date were penalized under this Grandfather Clause. PICKAWAY COUNTY schools fell into this category. THE BILL I SUPPORTED BAILED THEM OUT OF A SERIOUS FINANCIAL CRISIS AND PROVIDED THEM WITH $60,000.00 MORE than they would have received under previous law.

The bill I voted for in 1959, erased all the loss to Pickaway County from this Grandfather Clause except $22,061.77. My opponent charges that the bill lost the schools $129,029.02. The true situation as given by the finance department of the State Department of Education is an actual loss of $22,061.77 for 1960 compared to 1959. This figure has also been confirmed by the Pickaway County Superintendent's Office.

Had the school bill not passed, for which I am being criticized and did support, the county schools would have lost approximately $82,061.77. Therefore, as a result of this bill, the county schools actually gained $60,000.00.

My opponent states he will finance the schools with 50% of the state sales tax. The sales tax collected in the fiscal year 1959-60 was $236.4 million. Of that amount, 50% would be $118.2 million. Actually for the same fiscal year, 1959-60, the school subsidy program alone was $203,529,422.00. My opponent sounds good, but has everything to learn about legislation.

I have always supported sound school legislation. I believe the state of Ohio must find a source of state revenue to increase state support of schools to approximately 50%. Real estate tax cannot carry much more of the load. Therefore, I am now working with a committee to find a way of revising the state tax structure so it can carry a fair share of the cost of our schools. In this way I feel that our local and state government can adequately finance schools and avoid Federal Aid and Federal Control.

For the best representation for Pickaway County people in the next session of the Ohio Legislature,

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP)—Official U.S. Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook: Generally cloudy weather prevailed over Ohio Tuesday night. Sprinkles were reported at times, mainly over the central and southern sections.

During the early morning hours today, skies partially cleared and temperatures ranged from 37 in Cleveland to 47 at Marietta. Columbus had 46 and Cincinnati 45. A deep low-pressure area north of Lake Superior this morning has control over the Ohio weather and will be responsible for another mostly cloudy and cool day over the state today.

The forecast for tonight calls for mostly cloudy skies to continue with scattered showers likely over the southern half. Little temperature change is expected over the next 24 hours.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average 5 to 7 degrees below normal. Normal high 55, low 38. Cooler Thursday, warmer Friday, then cooler during remainder of period. Precipitation will average one-half inch in scattered showers Wednesday night and over the weekend.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Wind Instruments And Asthma

- Outgrowing Epilepsy
- Crooked Teeth
- Dyslexia

Q. Would the playing of wind instruments make asthma worse?

A. The playing of a wind instrument by a sufferer of asthma may increase the tendency to over-distention of the lungs and in this way be harmful. There seems little doubt that the playing of such instruments is more difficult for a person with asthma than for a normal person, and there are times when an asthmatic could not play a wind instrument at all.

Q. Do children ever "outgrow" epilepsy?

A. By "outgrow" we presume you mean complete disappearance of seizures with increasing age. Doctors can never be positive about this in any form of epilepsy but "fever convulsions" and petit mal (literally, "little illness") epilepsy in childhood often subside so that seizures in adulthood are rare. However, the same is not necessarily true of other types of epilepsy.

Questions submitted by readers are appreciated and answers to those of general interest will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Q. At what age should a child's teeth be straightened?

A. In general, tooth straightening is easier and more successful when started before the teens.

Q. You had an interesting article about "Why Johnny Can't Read." What about one on "Why Johnny Can't Spell" or "Why Johnny Can't Write"?

A. Difficulty in learning to spell or write may be due to dyslexia, a specific language difficulty. Doctors don't know why some brains can't store spelling and writing knowledge, but it is not necessarily due to lack of basic intelligence. Dyslexia, which is something like stuttering on paper, affects roughly one student in ten. There seems to be no cure beyond trying new methods of teaching.
